Chris Mortenson: How To Coach People To Improve
(without ticking them off)

Bio: Chris is an unapologetic Toastmaster nerd. Through his experience as a management consultant, he's learned that communication is one of the keys to a successful group, whether that's a business, a family, or a social group.

When having a conflict with someone, often we hold conversations that don't help, make things worse, or we avoid the conversation all together.

Chris will describe a proven formula for a productive conversation that will
